Back to Basics: Getting the Most Out of Our Abbreviated Season

with
Charley Soares

While there are plenty of members who are experienced anglers with many years experience, there are many more who are eager to learn and pick up as much knowledge as they can.

In this seminar he will talk about the basics in catching species in our area. He'll cover fishing from early spring to late fall. Whether fishing for school stripers in the spring to big bass in the fall, summer fluke, and sea bass or tautog... they all require some basic knowledge of where and how to fish.

Charley is the man to share that knowledge!

Charley has been a field editor for The Fisherman for 40 years and he's a feature writer for On The Water. In addition, he has been writing a Sunday outdoor newspaper column since 1980.

He is a well-known author having written several books including "Walking on Water", "Stemming The Tide", "Scratching The Surface" and "The Tube and Worm Guide Book"

Charley has been one of the most sought-after seminar speakers on the East Coast.
